REPORT
OF THE
COMPTROLLER OF THE TREASURY
OF THE
STATE OF MARYLAND.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,

Annapolis, January 7th, 1880.

To the Honorable the General Assembly of Maryland:

I respectfully submit my report for the last fiscal year, ended September 30th, 1879.

In my previous report, made to the Governor on the second day of January last, I gave a brief and general view and detailed exhibits of the condition of the State Treasury during and at the end of the fiscal year 1878. This report and that comprehend all the operations of the Treasury Department and afford a full statement of the financial proceedings which have taken place, since the report of my predecessor to the last Legislature.

In my report to the Governor is fully set forth the practice that prevails in the Treasury Department, in the indiscriminate use of its special funds for the general needs of the Treasury. This practice has the prestige of being old and time honored, and I know of no fault that has been found with it by a discriminating public sentiment. It is a necessity in administration and conduces to economy in taxation. It ought, therefore, to have the sanction of positive law for its justification, but there is no such authority for it anywhere in the financial legislation of the State. On the contrary, every special fund is dedicated and appropriated by law to a particular purpose; and in no instance is authority given to use it for any other.

The Constitution, Art. 3, sec. 34, declares that "no debt shall be contracted by the General Assembly, unless such debt shall be authorized by a law providing for the collection of an annual tax or taxes sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to discharge the principal thereof within fifteen years from the time of contracting the same; and the taxes laid for this purpose shall not be repealed or applied to any other object, until the said debt and the interest thereon shall be fully discharged."

In the face of this provision of the Constitution, it is my duty to report that the debt, known as the "Maryland Defence Loan," authorized by Act of 1868, chap. 235—the principal of which is $3,326,750.66—will fall due in the year 1883; and that it devolves upon this General Assembly to make provision for its payment or redemption.

There has been received, on account of the tax of $5\frac{1}{2}$ cents on each \$100, known as the "Bounty Tax," and imposed by the above Act for the payment of this debt, the sum of \$2,887,297.02. There has been disbursed in payment of interest on the loan the sum of \$2,127,714.51. (See Statement M.) There is shown, upon the books of this office, to the credit of this tax, in excess of disbursements, as set forth in "Statement M," on page 22 of this report, the small sum of \$145,628.73 due from the Treasury Proper. The balance of the tax, \$613,953.78, and millions more, have gone for bounties. It will presently be seen that the Treasury Proper is not, and will not be, in any condition to settle up with this special fund creditor; and even if it were, the amount due would fall far short of the amount required for this purpose. I am, therefore, compelled to ask that a new loan be authorized, to enable the Treasury to take up this debt, as it falls due in 1883. I am prompted to make this request, in compliance with another provision of the Constitution, to wit: Art. 6, Sec. 2, which requires that "the Comptroller shall digest and prepare plans for the improvement and management of the revenue and for the support of the public credit;" and in this connection, I respectfully suggest, as an improvement, the reduction of the rate of interest on the new loan to 5, and, if expedient, to 4 per cent; and as a better plan for the management of the revenue, a healing clause to the Constitution, extending a general pardon for the non-observance of Sec. 34, Art 3, of that instrument. It is right and proper that there shall be a system of special-funds-accounts enjoined upon and observed by the book-keeping of the Treasury Department; but there ought not to be in the system a constitutional prohibition, which proves to be impracticable.

"Statement B" shows the amount paid, during the fiscal year 1879, on account of interest on the public debt, to be $621,695.84. On a small portion of the public debt interest is payable quarterly; but for, by far, the larger portion of it provision has to be made to meet the interest on or before the first day of January and the first day of July each year; and the sterling interest, which approximates one-half of the whole, is required to be in hand three months in advance, for sure transmission to London. These and other heavy periodic demands upon the Treasury, accompanied by concurrent periodic fallings-off from receipts into the Treasury, occasion a great fluctuation in the balances on hand from time to time. Sometimes the balance is small and sometimes large—seemingly, too large as a surplus.

The monthly balance during the last fiscal year, given below, will illustrate, viz:

Balance in Treasury Proper at the end of the fiscal year 1878, as shown by Comptroller's last report.....	$204,165 88

Thus is seen that, though there was in the Treasury Proper on the first day of October, 1878, the sum of $204,165.88, it was in debt on the first day of November 1878, $59,263.92, and on the first day of December 1878, $17,251.21, and entered the new calendar year with only $13,648.25 to its credit.

Notwithstanding this was its condition during the first quarter of the fiscal year and on the first day of January 1879, there were demands upon it in the month of January, amounting to $362,774.81, all of which had to be and were promptly met—but how? only by a resort to the balance of the Treasury Relief Loan, authorized by the Act of 1878, ch. 238, and not exhausted the previous year.

I have set forth, in detail, the monthly operations and balances of the Treasury during the whole of the year

1879 ; in order that the General Assembly may see, practically, the necessity there was for the issuing of the Treasury Relief Bonds in January, and may understand that the condition of the Treasury at the end of the fiscal year is no indication of its condition throughout the year.

To further illustrate, it should be stated, in connection with the foregoing exhibit, that the largest disbursements are at the first of the month, and the receipts run in varying installments to the end of it. It is also proper to add here, that during the spring months, when the substantial balance, occasioned by the sale of the Treasury Relief Bonds in January, was being rapidly melted to nothing, the prompt and efficient Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of the city of Baltimore, Mr. I. Freeman Rasin, anticipated his accustomed June payment, and gave the Treasury the use of $50,000 of license money, in advance of his official return.

A large permanent surplus is not likely to accrue from present sources of revenue ; while large temporary balances are the necessities, which irregular and uncertain receipts require to be on hand, to meet the much more certain drafts upon the Treasury. It would be better if these balances could be confined within a smaller and less fluctuating margin, and if the Treasury officers did not have to go elsewhere so often for temporary relief.

The rate of taxation for State purposes is by no means oppressive in this State, and the appropriation of her revenues is, with comparatively few, and I might perhaps add scarcely any exceptions, for laudable and useful objects. The accompanying tables indicate one, and a great want to be, the prompt collection of her taxes. My report for the year 1878 showed the large sum of $1,150,406.45 in the hands of the tax collectors, either uncollected by them, or, if collected, not paid into the Treasury. The State levy for the year 1879 was $874,633.11, an increase over the previous year of $3,834.75. Of this levy there was paid into the State Treasury the sum of $435,104.38, and there remained in the hands of collectors, at the end of the fiscal year, $439,528.73. (See Table No. 14.) The amount due by collectors for previous years, exclusive of interest, is $610,005.92. (See Table No. 15.) These figures show the amount still outstanding, in the hands of collectors, to be $1,049,534.65, being $100,871.30 less, I am happy to say, than it was at the close of the fiscal year 1878.

It evidently then becomes my duty, under Art. 6, sec. 2, of the Constitution, to which I have previously referred, to digest and prepare a plan or plans for the improvement and management of this part of the revenue. In doing so, I invite the hearty co-operation of the assembled wisdom of the present General Assembly.

Ample and summary legal proceedings and remedies are already provided, for the prompt enforcement and collection of these taxes. The difficulty is not the want of more law—there is too much already upon these points, and some of it so severe, that it is seldom or ever enforced. The trouble, I take it, is that there are too many agents or instrumentalities, to whom and through whom the State must look for this branch of its revenue. In most of the counties the tax collector is multiplied into as many as there are election districts, and active partizans are selected to exact this unwilling debt from neighbors and friends. In the city and in those counties where there is but one collector, there is almost invariably some especial immunity or privilege conferred upon the office by local law. Promptness in the collection of money, especially where the debt is, as in the case of a tax, often unwilling, depends upon the readiness and determination manifested by the agent to resort to the remedies provided to that end. It is the real purpose to resort to legal remedies, rather than indulgence at first and threats afterwards, put into practice here and there, that makes people prompt in the payment of money.

The plan of making the collection of the State tax independent of the collection of the municipal or county tax, and of assigning large districts to each collector, and of subjecting the collector to removal at the will of the Comptroller, and of imposing a fine to operate periodically upon the tardy tax payer, being the opposite of the present plan, might work opposite and more satisfactory results. I submit it to the consideration of the General Assembly.

In some of the States the State levy is imposed upon and apportioned among the municipalities, and they are required to see to its collection, and are held directly responsible for its payment. This plan works well, notably in Massachusetts. There may be some hesitancy in inaugurating this system in this State; as great complaint is already heard, among the people, in regard to the municipal management of taxation; and the priority of payment to the State, which the system imposes, may render it unpopular. As, however, its efficacy has been demonstrated elsewhere, that should commend it to consideration here; and I respectfully concur with the Governor in calling the attention of the General Assembly to this mode of obtaining the State levy.

The State Tax Commissioner has been diligent in his assessment of corporations. "Table D" of his report shows the increase in the basis of assessment of corporations in 1879 over 1878 to be $5,660,065.76, and over 1877 to be $12,334,763.76. This increase is attributable to his office. I have gathered enough from my connection with the appeals from his assessments the past two years, and from my experience as the collector of this tax, to learn and know that, as a general rule, corporations are unwilling contributors to the State's revenue. As a class they are the wealthy embodiment of non-taxpaying investments, and yield only to inquisitorial demands for their assessable assets. It is eminently proper, therefore, and in the interest of the State, that there shall be some one assigned to the cultivation and improvement of this source of revenue. The Tax Commissioner has represented to me that the labors of his department require that he should have a clerk, and as no provision was made by the Act of 1878, creating the office, for such necessary aid, I have, at his request, assigned one of the clerks of the Comptroller's office, to duty in his department.

Receipts from Sheriffs during the year, amounted to $5,-434.21, being an increase over the previous year of $2,790 42. (See Table No. 12 of each report.) The amount due from Sheriffs at the end of the year was $28,709.48, being $6,-857.42 less than it was at the end of the previous year. (See Table No. 16 of each report.) This reduction has resulted, principally, from allowances for insolvences in settlement.

Receipts from Clerks of Courts and other sources named in Table No. 1 during the year, were $442,230.34, being $8,-641.22, less than the previous year. There was a decrease in the receipts from dredging licenses of $6,235.10, and from oyster fines, $420.61. (See Table No. 1 of each report)

Receipts from Registers of Wills, during the year, were $126,313.01, being an increase of $44,607.77, over the previous year. (See Table No. 2 of each report.)

The receipts of the Tobacco Warehouses are set forth in "Table No. 8," and amounted, during the year, to $101,-018.85, less by $23,013.18, than the previous year. The net earnings amounted to $3,874.57, more by $1,247.25, than the previous year, but not enough by $11,125.43, to pay the salaries of the supervisor and inspectors. These were defrayed, less the net earnings, by the Treasury. The tobacco inspections are a burthen to the State Treasury, notwithstanding the large amount they bring to the warehouses. As this ought not to be, I must renew the hope, expressed in my report to the Governor, that this Legislature will either revise or repeal the whole system.

The receipts from the State Grain Weighing Department, during the year, were $3,817.17, and $2,652.08 less than the previous year. This department is required to be self-sustaining, and the receipts were disbursed in salaries to the Weigher General and his deputies. As nearly all grain goes to, and is weighed in, the elevators, this seems to be a department as useless as it is unremunerative to the State or her officers.

The net earnings to the Treasury from the Live Stock Scales were $11,771.61, and $2,139.61 less than the previous year ; and from the State Hay Scales $1,759.60, and $467.12 more than the previous year.

The receipts from license and tax upon premiums, paid by foreign insurance companies during the year, amounted to $43,355.14, being an increase of $11,235.17 over the receipts from like sources the previous year.

The payment of bounties for enlistments from this State in the federal army during the late civil war, commenced in the year 1864, before the "grim visaged" had "smoothed his wrinkled front," and has continued ever since, and I apprehend will ever continue, unless the laws authorizing and directing the payment of these bounties are repealed. I refer to "Statement M," page 21, of this report, for full details of the cost to the State of this bounty. The Treasury has paid during the last year for bounties $10,100.00, and for clerical service $1,500.00. No claim has been paid without the closest scrutiny of the proofs presented through authorized channels. Since the close of the last fiscal year, even a greater amount has been disbursed on this account. Certainly by this time all parties entitled have had sufficient opportunity to establish and receive their bounties, and yet many claims, seeking payment under the law, are unsatisfied. I respectfully, but earnestly, request that an end be put to these stale demands, and that the bounty laws be repealed, and the further payment of bounties be prohibited by this Legislature.

Statement "H" is an exhibit of the receipts and disbursements on account of the "oyster fund" during the year, and of the balance due that fund of former years. It shows that the fines collected did not pay the cost of suits in cases when the parties were acquitted by $68.13, and that the expenses of the "oyster navy" exceeded the revenues from dredging licenses and oyster measurers by $12,342.51.

The oyster rocks and shoals of the Chesapeake bay and its tributaries are the imbedded wealth of the State of Maryland. Go where you will, in cities, villages and towns, and you will find hotels, restaurants and oyster saloons supplied with luxuries from this source, which are being enjoyed and "pro-ted" at a cost to this State of from ten to twelve thousand dollars per annum.

This imbedded wealth ought to be, and can be made a source of large revenue to the State that owns it. Protection to the oyster beds of the tributaries to the bay against dredging after a fair and patient and expensive trial has proven to be a failure. Tribute from the oyster should be the next demand of the State. The oyster navy should be reconstructed so as to ensure to the State a licence for every dredge or scoop that is used in her waters ; and those who use them should be required and made to pay a remunerative sum for the privilege, under a heavy penalty for dredging or scooping for oysters without a license. Sloops are inefficient for either protection, or for this service. A steamer, or steamers if need be, fleet and well equipped, are necessary to this end and object ; without them vessels from other States and foreign fleets would dredge and scoop with impunity and without license. Remunerative license, heavy penalties, unrestricted waters to licensed dredgers and scoopers, and an efficient navy to prevent dredging or scooping without license, with the incidental protection to the tongsmen which such a navy could afford, are features of an oyster license law, to which I respectfully invite the favorable attention of this Legislature.

The receipts into the Treasury during the fiscal year will be found in "Statement A."

The disbursements are set forth in "Statement B."

The probable receipts and disbursements during the present fiscal year are estimated in "Statements C and D," and it will be seen that they run very close together.

The Baltimore and Fredericktown Turnpike Company and the Baltimore and Yorktown Turnpike Company, have settled their arrearages of dividends on stock owned by the State since the printing of the statement of probable receipts and are classed among the productive securities in "Statement I."

The funded debts of the State and the amount of each class and the time when each becomes due will be found in "Statement J."

The Treasury is in a sound and healthy condition, notwithstanding the continued falling off of receipts from the Susquehanna and Tidewater Canal Company, the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal Company, the Columbia and Port Deposit Railroad Company, the Bohemia Bridge Company, and its large amount of unproductive assets, classed in "Statement I"; and unless large extraordinary demands upon it are made no extraordinary relief will be needed.

As an offset to any future necessities, should they arise, the Treasury holds the bonds of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, amounting to $366,000, and yielding 6 per cent. interest, which can be made available at not less than par under the Act of 1878, chap. 238. These are the bonds that were obtained in the settlement authorized by the Act of 1878, chap. 155, and made with that Company, of its indebtedness on account of former sources of revenue.

Much good would be accomplished and great relief afforded to tax-payers if the area of taxation were extended and property and wealth, in whatever shape or form or substance they may be put, except perhaps in charity or religion within a prescribed limit, were subjected alike to the burden. As long as exemptions are made, superabundant and inactive wealth will seek investment in those securities which are exempt, and to that extent escape taxation. If obligations to pay ought not to contribute to the support of the government, then let those who give, and not those who hold these obligations escape. Not until every person holding property shall be required to go once a year to the assessor to be taxed according to his actual worth, will taxation be equalized and its burdens be imposed so as to fall lightly on the many rather than heavily on the few.

Full exhibits of all the operations of the Treasury Department during the fiscal year are set forth in the statements and tables in the Appendices. The Index at the end will afford a ready reference to them.

Respectfully submitted,

THOS. J. KEATING,

Comptroller..

The Sterling Debt was reduced during the Fiscal Year ended September 30th, 1879, by Exchanges as follows:

‡ 5 per cent. Sterling, chap. 386 of 1838..... $27,777 77

* Of this sum, $4,432,222.24 is Sterling Debt, on which the interest is payable in London in gold or its equivalent. The aggregate debt of the State for the Fiscal Year ended September 30th, 1878, should have been $11,007,135.12, instead of $10,772,912.90, as stated in the Report of 1878. This error was caused by deducting 52,700£ Sterling redeemed, (or $234,222.22,) twice from the Sterling Debt, and was discovered and rectified upon the books of the Treasury Department shortly after the publication of the Report.

† In the redemption or exchange of the Sterling Debt, the calculation being required to be made at the rate of $4.84 per £ as per Section 13, of Article 94 of the Code, the increase of the Maryland State Loan Debt by exchanges made during the Fiscal Year, amounts to $30,250.00, although the Sterling Debt seems to be reduced but $27,777.77, the Sterling Debt having been always computed in this statement at the rate of $4.44 4-9 per £.

For this balance of $7,674,280.18, the State has as an off-set her unproductive stocks, amounting to $25,323,304.22 and $1,393,000.00 due from Accounting Officers and Incorporated Institutions.
